3. Photographed by SJAC in Qabun Military Police Headquarters - December 2024: correspondence from head of Military Police (Investigation and Prisons Branch) to head of Damascus Military Police, dated 13 May 2019. The document references prior correspondence with the Political Security Directorate and instructs the Damascus Military Police to undertake necessary measures regarding the death of Abu, who had been in a detention facility. The document explains that his family's request to receive the body was refused. The military police were instructed to bury his body in "in an identified location." Copies of the correspondence are to be sent to the First Military Field Court and the Medical Services Directorate (Note: Document #3 references the First Military Field Court, which may suggest that M. had been at Sednaya by 2019. Many prisoners from Sednaya were sent to this field court; alternatively, it could mean that he was slated to be referred to the First Military Field Court at the time of his death, and hence the court was being notified of this).

Photographed by SJAC in Al-Mezzeh Military Airport on 12/23/2024 - A letter dated December 23, 2012, from the Investigation Branch of the Air Force Intelligence Directorate (AFID) to all associated branches. The letter informs officials that, in accordance with a directive from the National Security Bureau and the head of the AFID, branch directors must document all detainees who were killed or died in custody and forward that information to the Investigative Branch. A handwritten portion at the end of the letter informs officials that all bodies should be handed over to the military hospital associated with the specific branch where the detainee died. The note then reaffirms that all deaths would be reported to the director of the AFID. This is the first known evidence of the Syrian government issuing instructing on how to deal with deceased detainees.

5. Photographed by SJAC in Qabun Military Police Headquarters - December 2024: A log recording the names and ID numbers of 25 detainees. The report alleges these detainees died at Tishreen Military Hospital as a result of various medical causes, however, SJAC believes they likely died in prison but their records were modified to make it appear they died in Tishreen Hospital. All 25 detainees died within the same five days in November 2015.

This log was produced by the Military Police - Military Criminal Investigations Detachment at Tishreen Military Hospital. The log was found in a volume of documents recording similar deaths at Tishreen Military Hospital between 2015 and 2017, many with detainee names and numbers listed together. According to the log, 467 detainees allegedly died at Tishreen Military Hospital in just the final two months of 2015.

8. Photographed by SJAC in Al-Mezzeh Military Airport 12/12/2024: This letter dated 3/19/2015 from Airforce Intelligence Directorate (AFID) – Southern Region, Daraa to the AFID Investigation Branch, provides a list of detainees who died in custody.

The list details when the individual was detained, when they died, to which hospital the body was handed over, and whether the body was released to the family. It is important to note that lower ranking officials often did not return bodies to families despite reporting this to their superiors. This letter would have originally included the post-mortem report from the doctor assigned to the Daraa branch as well as medical records from the receiving hospital.

9. Photographed by SJAC in General Intelligence HQ, Damascus in 12/14/2024: Report from the General Intelligence Directorate to the head of the Directorate which details multiple detainees.

The first detainee mentioned in this report is a Saudi national suspected of being a member of ISIS. He was trained for combat operations in Ja'bar castle in Raqqa, deployed to Mosul governorate in Iraq at a point near the Sinjar mountains. He was part of a group of ISIS fighters who captured 15 Kurdish fighters who were later exchanged in a prisoner swap. He continued fighting for ISIS over the next six months until he was detained by the YPG and transferred to Syrian government custody. He was referred to a field court, however, no action had been taken as of the writing of this report.

Documents #9-10 detail foreign-born ISIS members detained by the government. Document #10 definitively proves that Kurdish forces regularly transferred detainees to government custody.

Mr. Major General, Directorate Head's First Assistant
We present to you the Arab and foreign detainees in the custody of the Security Services

First: The seven detainees in the custody of the General Intelligence Services

Joining the ISIS terrorist organization and undergoing an [Islamic law] and military course for one and a half months in Ja'bar castle where religious classes about Jihad jurisprudence and training on individual weapons (Russian rifle [AK47], PKC machinegun, RPG launcher, and throwing hand grenades) took place. During that course, they swore allegiance collectively, and our detainee was given a code name [redacted information] and was deployed later in Mosul city and he entered the Iraqi territories illegally, where he was deployed to Tal Afar and B'aaj area which was under control the so called Abu Omar AlBaghdadi Army. He [the detainee] was handed a Russian rifle, a military chest vest, four ammunition clips, and two [hand] grenades, and he was deployed to a guarding point called (Mosul 1) at the front of Sinjar Mountains which was under control of the Peshmerga Kurdish Forces. He [the detainee] moved between multiple points at that front. During which he engaged in many battles against these forces, he denied knowing the number of killed and injured among the Peshmerga Forces. During these battles, they [ISIS forces] were able to capture around fifteen Kurdish fighters who were exchanged with captives from ISIS who were in the custody of the mentioned forces. He [the detainee] carried on like that for six months

10. Photographed by SJAC in General Intelligence HQ, Damascus in 12/14/2024: This detainee is reportedly a French national from Tunisia. He was handed over to the Syrian government by the YPG after attempting to enter Syria to join ISIS. During interrogation, he explains that he was radicalized via online media and travelled to Türkiye in 2016. He crossed into Syria through the As-Salama crossing and was detained at a YPG checkpoint outside Azaz City. He was then transferred to Syrian government custody. This document is important because it presents the first hard evidence that these types of transfers took place between the Kurdish administration and Syrian Government. The detainee was referred to the anti-terrorism court, but the National Security Bureau ordered that he be released back into the custody of the General Intelligence Directorate to be used for, "security purposes". A handwritten note says that the Directorate contacted their, "Russian friends," to determine the extent he could be utilized.

He was handed over to us by the Kurdish YPG militias after he had been detained by them for coming to Syria in order to join ISIS terrorist organization. During our interrogation of him, he admitted that after the events in Syria and Iraq have started, and by following Arabic and foreign satellite [TV] channels, as well as by [browsing] websites, particularly those of ISIS terrorist organization and watching many speeches of the organization's leaders, especially the terrorist Abu Bakr AlBaghdadi, and his declaration of an Islamic Caliphate in Iraq and Syria – he was influence by that and decided to come to Syria in order to join the ISIS terrorist organization for Jihad. In May 2016, he booked a roundtrip ticket from Charles de Gaulle Airport in Paris to Istanbul Airport in order to deceive others into that he was coming for travel and tourism and to keep himself out of suspicion. Afterwards, he downloaded a map showing the locations of the terrorist groups in Syria, including ISIS, from a Russian website. [Redacted information] arrived at the Istanbul Airport and directly flew to from there to Gaziantep Airport where he rented a car, model Renault Clio, and headed to Kilis City then entered the Syrian territories illegally via AsSalama border crossing point and headed to A'zaz city relying on the map he downloaded on his phone searching for the locations of ISIS terrorist organization. After leaving A'zaz, he came across a checkpoint of the Kurdish YPG militias without knowing, and when they knew that he came to join ISIS organization [...]

He was referred to the Anti-Terrorism Court on December 8, 2018 and was brought back to us from Damascus Central Prison Branch on October 25, 2019 after he was released from the Anti-Terrorism Court according to oral instructions by National Security Bureau to keep him in our custody in order to utilize him for security purposes.
